COTP Youth Theatre Production Program

The arts provide students with important opportunity to enrich their recreation and leisure. Students who are educated in the arts develop the capacity to understand and appreciate and enjoy art work and performances. A quality arts education motivates students to seek opportunities to respond to live and recorded art which can expand and enrich their lives. Arts education also aids students in skills needed in the workplace: flexibility, the ability to solve problems and communicate; the ability to learn new skills, to be creative and innovative, and to strive for excellence.

Our youth program offers the following:

- Basic skills: reading, writing, mathematics (arithmetical computation and mathematical reason), listening and speaking;
- Thinking skills: creative thinking, making decisions, solving problems, seeking things in the mind's eye, knowing how to learn and reason;
- Personal qualities; individual responsibilities as well as self-esteem, sociability, self-management and integrity; and
- At the completion of the program, participants will write, produce and perform in their own "mini-theatre production."

This shockingly, dramatically, well-written original stage play exposes a closeted culture of sex between men who lead "straight" lives. The trend is proving to have skyrocketing statistics on new HIV/AIDS cases for wives and girlfriends unwittingly caught in the double lives of their men. African American women represent 68% of new HIV cases. An alarming one out of 160 black women carries the virus, compared to one in 3000 white women.
